

Mr Sean Langton
Senior Teaching Fellow in Anaesthesia, School of Veterinary Medicine, University of Surrey

Sean completed his anaesthesia training in Glasgow in 2012, then worked as a clinical specialist in several tertiary referral hospitals. He joined the University of Surrey in 2017, where he is Senior Teaching Fellow in Anaesthesia at the School of Veterinary Medicine, splitting his time between the classroom and hospital.

Sean has taught a mixture of undergraduate students and postgraduate trainees (in anaesthesia and other disciplines) and provides CPD to qualified practitioners. Teaching in a variety of settings, from the classroom and simulation suite to the hospital and in the field. Education lets Sean share his enthusiasm for anaesthesia with others, so he uses anaesthesia to share his enthusiasm for education with anaesthetists, he feels it is a fair exchange.

Sean is a European Specialist in Veterinary Anaesthesia and Analgesia and Fellow of the Academy of Medical Educators.